

PRIVACY POLICY

The site with the domain name www.bellavita.pt including all its sub-pages, is managed and operated by Bellavita whose headquarters are at Estrada dos Salgados, Vale Rabelho, Lote 38, 8200-428 ALBUFEIRA. All of the elements that make up this site, including but not only text, images, graphics, files, layout and structure, are protected by legal guidelines relating to intellectual property and, in particular, the framework protecting Author's Rights. These elements (which include any brands, registered, unrestricted, patented or of great prestige, models, signs, badges, design, names of products, places or services, firms, logos, distinctive signs of commercial business or relating to the legal owners of the intellectual property displayed or used on the website) may not be copied for commercial use or for distribution, nor can they be modified or forwarded to other websites. This website may also contain images which are also intellectual property of third parties and are, therefore, subject to the same laws covering the protection of author's rights and intellectual property.

The introduction, alteration or suppression of information available on the website by the user and without the express permission of Bellavita is illegal. It is also illegal to interfere with, obstruct or disrupt the technical system that supports the efficient working of the site. Any actions which can be construed as criminal connected to computer technology are forbidden and are punishable by law, and Bellavita will take all measures necessary to ensure that the perpetrator will be punished under civil and/or criminal law.

All of the contents and functions within the portal are provided on an "AS IS" basis without any warranty regarding the information, advice or recommendations contained therein, nor do they establish any contractual responsibility. Bellavita cannot be held responsible for the total accuracy and immediacy of information on the website, except when this occurs fraudulently or negligently. Without prejudicing the terms of the Privacy Policy, any other type of document or notes expressly made available for the purpose on this portal, any data, comments, suggestions, information or contents, transmitted by the user or sent to the website, by means of electronic mail or by any other means, will be considered private use and for the final exclusive use of Bellavita or any other entity nominated by them.

This website links to sites operated by third parties. Bellavita does not take any specific responsibility for the quality, veracity or immediacy of the statements reproduced on the websites to which there are links of hypertext, also known as “hyperlinks” or “links”, to this portal, given that they do not exercise any control over them. All of the legislation relating to and quoted on this website does not preclude consultation of Diário da República, where the relevant legal statutes will be published. The provision of personal details on this website is optional, designed to be used for the database of the readers of the newsletter of Bellavita or other purposes which will be specifically indicated.

The treatment of these details is confidential and is the responsibility of Bellavita. The individual has the right to access and correct his/her personal details, and can do so in person or in writing, at the address of this company specifically identified on this portal, at any time and without any charge, under the terms set out under Law N° 67/98 of 26 October. Bellavita reserves the right to prevent, regulate access or change the conditions of use for any user. The change of the current Legal Terms or even, in the last instance, the withdrawal of this website can be carried out at any time and with immediate effect without the need for prior notice to the users.

This portal was created and functions in accordance with Portuguese law. Any litigation arising from this will be regulated under Portuguese law by the Tribunal de Comarca de Albufeira whose decision is final.

According to Law No. 144/2015 we inform you that in case of dispute, the jurisdiction will be the Centro de Arbitragem de Conflitos de Consumo do Algarve